President Works On New Program To Combat Slump

Will Call For Mutual Concessions From Both Industry And Labor

PLANNED PRODUCTION IS AIM OF PRESIDENT

Hopes To Secure Labor Peace And Elimination Of Troublesome Strikes

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—A program to end business slump which will call for mutual concessions from both industry and labor was being worked out today as a result of his conferences during the past ten days with leaders in both fields.
Dependent on the degree of cooperation Mr. Roosevelt finds on each side, he will reduce this program to writing and send it to congress as a special message in the near future, close sources said.
Primarily the president, in his talks with leaders of industry finance and labor, has been exploring the possibility of permitting industry to return to planned production, such as it enjoyed under NRA.
For labor, he is seeking a more

PA NEW OBSERVES

Today is the last day that 1937 license plates can be used on autos in Pennsylvania. New 1938 plates must be on all cars operated after midnight.

An inhaler of the newest type has been purchased for Pymatung Lake. The machine is being kept at the dam and will be available in emergency cases at once.

The city is having some good work done on Florence avenue near Epworth. Posts 8' by 10' and 42" high with two one-inch cables running through them, are placed for about a hundred feet along the edge of the bank. Then a new catch-basin is being made at the same location to carry the surface water away from the bank down to the hollow. A retaining wall is also being built from the bottom of the bank up to and around the large outflow pipe, to prevent further earth erosion from the bank.

Apparently impressed by the promise of city and state officials that dogs not licensed would be taken in, a horde of dog owners crowded the corridor of the court house today, swamped the office of the county treasurer and at noon the line was still there. The urge to get a license seemed to hit everybody all at once. At ten o'clock there was not more than one or two in the office. Shortly after that the crowd began to gather and at eleven o'clock the queue was lined to the door and more were coming.

One of the biggest traffic improvements needed in the city and environs at the present time, and one that would open a lot of territory for development is paving of North Mercer street to the city line. The thoroughfare is much travelled at present, and if paved would be one of the most travelled north and south streets in the entire city.

While gathering kindling wood one day this week, Robert Adams, who resides on the Mitchell school road, discovered a garter snake on top of the ground, a rarity at this time of the year.

Fire Damages Row Of Houses

Four Homes On Big Run Street Threatened By Blaze Friday Evening

FIREMEN ARE KEPT ON JUMP

City firemen were kept on the jump last evening, when they answered an alarm from Box 83, calling them to Big Run street, at 7:45 o'clock, and found four houses ablaze at the same time. A loss of around $1,700 resulted.

Fire, which is believed to have originated from a defective chimney in the kitchen of the home of Hugh Henry, of 23 Big Run street, spread in front sparks to the homes of W. Watkins, 19 Big Run street, Mrs. Mary Sanko, 21 Big Run street, and John Berardelli, of 25 Big Run street.

The Henry home was the worst damaged, most of the damage to the other places being about the roof, which were covered with tar paper and which took fire easily.
Firemen were called back to the Berardelli home again about 9:40, when fire was discovered in the one of the roof. It probably resulted from a spark from the previous fire, which smoldered for a time before bursting into flame, amounted to around $25.

Approve Plan For Federal Tax Revision

Views Of U. S. Treasury Department Are Given By Undersecretary

WOULD REVISE ENTIRE TAX PLAN

Several Drastic Plans Are Suggested To Meet Changes Proposed

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The treasury today approved immediate tax revision and at the same time Undersecretary Roswell Magill revealed plans for a future sweeping revision of the entire tax system.
The treasury's views were laid before the house ways and means committee at hearings opened on the tax subcommittee's proposed revision of the undistributed profits, capital gains and other levies to aid business.

Discloses Attitude.
In the absence of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Magill disclosed the administration's attitude toward repeated demands of business for repeal or modification of tax laws, especially the profits and capital gains tax.

While approving the subcommittee's proposed modification to remove inequities and stimulate business, Magill vigorously opposed outright repeal of either the profits or gains levies.
The proposal for a future sweeping revision of the entire tax system came as a surprise. The suggested changes included abolition of tax exempt bonds and repeal of manufacturers' excise tax with a boost in income tax rates indicated.
The future program, which is being evolved by the administration, includes the following topics:

Changes Considered.
1. Integration of federal and state taxing systems, elimination of overlapping and filing of duplicate returns for federal and state taxes.
2. Elimination, as to future issues, of state and federal tax-exempt bonds and also exemption on federal salaries from state income tax and state and local salaries from federal tax.
3. Possible consolidation of estate tax.

Appointment Is Sent To Senate Just Before Noon

Comes As Surprise To Washington—Reed At Present Solicitor-General

NAMED TO SUCCEED JUSTICE SUTHERLAND

Early Confirmation Of Appointment Is Expected—Reed From Kentucky

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—President Roosevelt today nominated the solicitor-general, Stanley Reed, to the supreme court to fill the vacancy that will occur next Monday with the retirement of Associate Justice George Sutherland.
The nomination was sent to the senate upon its convening today shortly before noon.

Surprise Announcement
The announcement of Reed's elevation to the bench came as no surprise to Washington, as the solicitor general was known to have been highly considered for the earlier vacancy which Mr. Roosevelt filled with the appointment of Hugo L. Black.
Because of the furor aroused by the Black appointment, it is anticipated that the senate will inquire searching into his record, but his early confirmation is expected.

Reed is 53 years old, and has been solicitor-general since March of 1935. In that capacity he fell to him to defend much of the new deal legislation which was under attack before the bench to which he will now ascend.
He is considered to have made an enviable record in the presentation of these cases to the court, so that his nomination today came somewhat as a reward for his work.

To File Defense Of 44-Hour Week Law

Report Is Ready For Court Monday

Will Be Presented In Defense Of Constitutionality Of New State Act

PREPARATORY TO COURT DECISION

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 15.—Prepared by a staff of economists, a voluminous brief defending constitutionality of the state's 44-hour week law was completed today for presentation to the Dauphin county court Monday to bolster the department of labor and industry's contention the act is valid.

Constitutionality of the law passed by the last general session of the legislature was attacked by Holgate Brothers of Kane, Pa., a wood specialties firm. The state supreme court, requested to assume original jurisdiction in the case, refused to do so until basic facts were established and agreed upon by contesting attorneys.

Leon Henderson, economics adviser to President Roosevelt, headed the staff of economists which prepared the brief for Secretary of Labor and industry Ralph M. Bashore.

Among the points expected to be stressed by Bashore and Henderson in defense of the law were: Competitors in Pennsylvania are placed on an equitable and fair plane; states of fair labor standards attract superior industry, superior employers and superior craftsmen; states and nations of standard work weeks are also states of productive activity and prosperity; the 44-hour week is necessary to reap the full benefit of the machine-age; weak and unorganized labor is protected, thereby diminishing poverty and unemployment; and, standards set by the 44-hour week law are reasonable.

APPROVE PLAN FOR FEDERAL TAX REVISION

and gift tax, with single set of rates. 4. Revision of court procedure. 5. Further provision for application of net operating losses against net operating income of subsequent years. 6. Personal exemptions (presumably a lowering of personal income tax exemptions) and earned income credit. 7. Gradual repeal of manufacturers' excise taxes and substitution, if necessary, of other forms of taxation.

Perhaps the most far-reaching future tax change suggested by Magill as being under treasury consideration is the repeal of manufacturers' excise taxes.

He revealed that in the present fiscal year nearly 50 per cent of all federal taxes will be derived from this class of taxes. As a start toward the treasury's repeal program, the tax subcommittee recommended immediate repeal of excise and "nuisance" taxes yielding $25,000,000.

Magill said: "The revenue system, as a whole, would be considerably improved if the temporary excise taxes upon commodities in the hands of man could gradually be eliminated, the lost revenue being provided, if necessary, by increases in the income tax and estate tax."

Magill also urged further consideration of removal of the oil depletion tax.

In Mason county on Dec. 31, 1884, the son of a doctor. He was educated (A. B.) at Kentucky Wesleyan College, and then pursued his law studies at Yale, Virginia and Columbia. He also studied at the Sorbonne in Paris.

He was admitted to the Kentucky bar in 1910, and began private practice at Maysville. Later he became general counsel for the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association.

His work in connection with the tobacco cooperative, one of the first and most successful of such cooperatives, attracted attention in Washington, and President Hoover brought him to the capital as general counsel for the old federal farm board early in his administration. He served in that capacity for three years.

At the outset of the Roosevelt administration, Reed was shifted from the old farm board to the reconstruction finance corporation as chief counsel.

Named Solicitor-General
From the RFC, Reed was appointed solicitor-general, and he has since occupied that post.

A speech commemorating the anniversary of national prohibition was being delivered by Senator Sheppard (D) Texas, father of the 18th amendment, when Reed's nomination was received by the senate.

The nomination was not immediately read, although after Vice President Garner opened the large envelope containing the nomination slip senators quickly glanced at it and the word spread through the capital.

There was a belief in congressional circles that President Roosevelt would name Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general, to be solicitor-general succeeding Reed.

Advancement of Jackson to that position would place him in a more effective spot for continuation of the administration's warfare against monopolies.

Patrolman William Shaner has been assigned as a relief patrolman on the 4 p. m.-midnight, midnight-8 a. m. turns.

When asked for the reason for the new working arrangement, effective January 16, Mayor Charles E. McGrath replied:

Mayor Gives Reason
"Following two years' observation it was decided to change the arrangement to improve service."

He said there was no other reason for the changes and added that he had no animosity against any of the officers affected.

Mayor McGrath said that henceforth all patrolmen will be held responsible and accountable for things that transpire on their patrols.

Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell stated that if the new system does not work out as anticipated, another change will be probable.

As things now stand Lieutenant Shaner will be the only day turn plainclothes detective, with Young as a uniformed investigator.

Young and Moore have been on the police department 22 years. Both have intermittently served as city detectives and plainclothes operatives.

The convention of the directors, an annual event, was one of the best attended in recent years, and some splendid addresses were heard by the members in addition to carrying on the business of the organization. New legislation which has been enacted since the last meeting was explained in detail, and new ideas were gained about school work.

The speakers included J. A. Shambaugh, formerly an official of the department of public instruction, but who is now deputy secretary of the State Teachers' Retirement board; Herbert J. Stockton, president of the State School Directors' association, and Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, president of Westminster college, and County Superintendent John C. Syling.

member of the hospital staff and contends the baby was born to Mrs. Sanders was foot-printed at birth and records placed on file.

"The general belief prevailed that it was a boy until the case was checked with the records," the physician said. "The woman gave birth to a girl and we have the baby's footprints on record here as proof."

Given Wrong Child

Mrs. Sanders said a nurse whispered to her "it's a boy" shortly after the child was born. She related a series of other happenings in support of her belief she was given the wrong child. Hospital attaches contended all these events arose from the first mistaken opinion around the hospital that Mrs. Sanders' child was a boy.

"I'm going to demand positive proof that this is our child. We're going to fight it out," Sanders asserted, in backing up, in most part, the stand taken by his mate.

The parents appealed to the state welfare department yesterday and Gov. George H. Earle called upon the State Motor police to get all the details of the case for consideration of the department officials. The Sanders have five other children.

the much advertised Chinese counter-attack that Chiang has been planning can be effective.

Meanwhile, the position of the strategic city of Tsinin in Shantung province was obscure, with both the Chinese and Japanese claiming possession of this stronghold.

Chinese Claim Victory.

Yesterday the Chinese claimed to have recaptured it from the Japanese in a sudden counter-attack that took the Japanese by surprise.

A little later the Japanese claimed that they had driven the Chinese back of the city limits.

Reports reaching Shanghai stated that General Han Pu-Chu, governor of Shantung province, and General Li Tuo-Chuan and Wan Pu-Lin, subordinates of Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, had been executed at Hankow on charges of being derelict in their duty of defending their territory against Japanese.

Among other things, they were accused of permitting mutiny and insubordination among their troops.

stable wage, arrived at on an annual basis—with the understanding that once obtained there will be no labor disturbances during that year.

Naval Building Program

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt was working on another message to congress calling for a large supplemental naval building program. Its delivery is expected next week, and the administration has high hopes that heavy industry will be greatly stimulated by the prospect of immediate large-scale orders.

Inability of the heavy industries to have their production planned twelve months ahead, in Mr. Roosevelt's opinion, was the biggest single factor in contributing to the current recession. He probably will ask congress to modify the anti-trust so business men can get together and plan their production intelligently without fear of prosecution. A stipulation would be made against price-fixing and the competitive system would be maintained.

Seek End of Labor Turnmoil

From labor, in return for his efforts to obtain them more stable employment the president is looking to the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L. to end their internal fight, at least to the extent of jurisdictional strikes which have paralyzed many innocent employers.

Parent-Teacher Associations

ROSE AVENUE P. T. A. Dr. Samuel W. Perry, Jr., was the guest speaker at the Rose Avenue Parent-Teacher association meeting on Thursday evening at the Rose Avenue school. Dr. Perry gave an interesting and instructive talk on "Communicable Diseases." An open forum took place afterwards.

The meeting opened with group singing, led by Miss Anna Cox, accompanied by Mrs. Gomer Emery at the piano. This was followed by the national P. T. A. prayer, given by Mrs. Plummer Gibson. The business period was conducted by the president, Mrs. P. D. Gibson. Reports of the various committees were heard, after which Mrs. C. R. ## KEEPING ON GUARD

A BOY who lives in the alley must learn to fight, regardless of how much he is opposed to street brawls, or be prepared to come out second best in the numerous encounters which are inevitable. He may preach against the evils of fighting and possibly may be successful, but until he convinces the hoodlums that fighting is wrong, he must recognize the necessity for a proper defense.

We find a parallel between the lives of the street gamins and the experiences of nations. A few countries are definitely opposed to war, but they must recognize that they are in the minority. We have our hoodlum nations just as we have our hoodlums of the alleys, and the peace-loving powers have no alternative to preparing a defense against possible attacks.

In the alleys, however, some children are never called on to defend themselves, because their prowess is known and nobody dares pick a fight with the acclaimed "champ." In our parallel with the nations, the "champ" is the country which is known to have such a powerful defense system that attack by another nation would be foolhardy.

Therefore, as eager as we are to see the United States remain at peace, we cannot deny the wisdom of the administration's action in calling for increased armament building. The armament program is all the more worthy because, according to authoritative reports, the equipment to be manufactured is that which is more necessary to defense than to attack.

The slogan, "In time of peace, prepare for war," has been the object of attack from pacifist organizations for many years. We admit that it is an exceedingly discouraging exhortation, proclaiming the inevitability of war, but wise nations obey the command. As Chairman Edward T. Taylor, of the House Appropriations Committee, declared, "we must be on our guard, or otherwise a surprise move may catch us flatfooted."

The expenditures for armaments may be the price we pay for peace. If so, it is money wisely spent. The day may come when we may "live together in unity," but that day is far off and we still must act like the boys of the alleys.

SUDDEN DEATH IN 1938

From the National Safety Council comes the discouraging prediction that 45,000 persons will be killed in American automobile accidents in 1938. The estimate is based upon the six per cent increase of fatalities recorded last year.

Alert enforcement of the traffic laws and continued educational campaigns will help reduce the accident hazard.

But the final responsibility, as always, will rest with the man behind the wheel. If the dire prophecy of the National Safety Council is to be disproved, there must be evidenced a real determination on the part of the motoring public to obey the rules of the road, avoid recklessness of all types and show due regard for the other fellow's rights and welfare.

SCHOOL HAS REAL APPEAL

Another great tragedy of youth: It's no fun playing hookey any more. "Modern educational methods," says an investigator, "are making it so interesting for junior that he prefers the classroom to the great outdoors."

The old-time truant officer, he continues, is licked and gone with the wind. Mind has triumphed over matter. Educators have grown so smart that they don't have to use force any more to pound instructions into boys' and girls' heads and keep them on the job.

There are "attendance officers," to be sure, but they're "specialists in the field of child behavior," familiar with psychology and psychiatry, who manage things with such wizardry that the kids stay on the job and keep busy and get an education so painlessly that they hardly know what is happening to them.

It sounds almost too good to be true. Still, we always had a sort of notion that grown-ups were really smarter than children.

BY HAPPY ACCIDENT

A manuscript rescued from a waste basket forty years ago was recently presented to the British Museum and gratefully accepted by its trustees. It is now on exhibition in the galleries of the British National Library, mainly because an American woman once thought better of it than its author, the late Rudyard Kipling.

There are few more famous poems than Kipling's "Recessional." It has been sung and recited everywhere in the English-speaking world, on appropriate occasions and others. Its curiously mixed mood of boasting and humility seems to invite its reading as an afterthought to celebrations of pomp and circumstance, or demonstrations of pride and power. There is something of Greek superstition in it, for it was an old Greek custom to "talk small" and go softly after a time of triumph lest the jealous gods be offended at man's impertinence.

In that spirit precisely it was originally written, immediately after Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee, in July, 1897. Kipling went through his papers in the presence of a visitor from the United States, Sara Norton, and tossed the poem away as unfinished and not worth finishing. Miss Norton rescued it, revisions were made at once and the poem appeared the following morning in the London Times.

The author gave his guest the manuscript and her sister, Miss Elizabeth Gaskell Norton, has given it back to the British people. "A happy accident," says the Times of forty years after, "that this poem, so much loftier and deeper than politics, should owe its preservation to an American . . . and should come as a gift from American hands for presentation to the people of Great Britain."

Political control of business and industry has proved such a success, it is now proposed to extend it to farm crops, hours and wages, etc., etc.

It is quite significant that references to the hoodlum nations do not create any uncertainty in the public mind as to just which nations are meant.

Brazil is celebrating the 150th anniversary of the United States constitution. It's nice to have a constitutional document handy after you've torn up your own.

FAMILY DISCUSSION SUBJECTS

Weir Mitchell, great surgeon, medical pioneer and writer, said in his autobiography that "Robinson Crusoe" was among his first books, that it was stolen by a servant, and that he afterwards found it in a book store and bought it back.

"The Arabian Nights" we used literally to devour and conceal for selfish use until my mother, a most tender woman, decided that none of us would study as long as it existed, and burned it before our eyes amid loud lamentations. That was for me an hour of despair; I did not know that ever again I could get the book."

Among the Egyptians, at the beginning of the Christian era, the average life-time of a person was 20 years. When George Washington was a baby, it was, in the United States, about 35 years. When Pasteur lived, it was about 40 years. Now it is almost 60 years. During the last 50 years there has been a greater gain in saving human life than in all the years from the Birth of Christ to Pastors.

James H. Freeman writes about a total eclipse of the sun: "When Chickens and Birds Went to Bed by Day."

"I was a lad of 20 then, herding sheep on a long ranch 30 miles east of Colorado Springs, on the plains. I learned beforehand that I was on the center line of the approaching total eclipse of the sun. Here are some extracts from my diary written July 28, 1878:

"Sun enters eclipse at 2:15, by our clock."

"At 3:15 it looks like a new moon at sunset. It is a strange, weird light now, and getting dimmer."

"3:25. Oh! Oh! What a weird glowing sight. 3:26, total . . . 3:36, new moon again, in reversed fashion, growing larger."

"The darkness passed away almost at once when the first ray came down. One moment it was dark as midnight—the next as light as midday."

"I brought my sheep in just before it became total and kept them in about 15 minutes."

"The chickens stretched their necks curiously as the sky darkened, turned an eye upward, then ran for the coos, stepping high and awkward. Birds chirruped sadly, and the stars came out thickly overhead."

"It came to me without cost or invitation."

"This column might make a good reading lesson at school as well as at home, for elementary school children."

Purposely I introduced some interesting facts with the hope that parents and their children will have things to talk about and think about, that seem worthwhile.

WE MUST SAVE OURSELVES

DON'T TRY to save me from myself. I'll do no good to try. It won't work. You'll get no credit for it, either. I'll not thank you, and you take my word for that. If I put too much salt in my food. If I eat too much meat and not enough vegetables. If my clothes don't fit. If I'm always needing a haircut.

If I have a friend of whom you don't approve. If some of my habits don't suit you. If I read the wrong books and laugh at the wrong jokes. If I like puns and don't like grand opera.

If my tie is the wrong color. If my grammar is faulty and I don't know when to say "shall" and when to say "will." If I'm intolerant when I should be tolerant and easy when I should be tough.

If I prefer bridge to poker. If I like watching football instead of playing tennis. If I say the wrong things. If I dream and don't do. If I procrastinate and if I fuss.

If in all these ways I'm wrong, you can do nothing about it. You can't change me. You can argue, you can abuse, you can remind and deplore and say, "I told you so," but you'll be wasting your time and your energy and your noble intentions.

Because no matter how hard you try you can't save Me From Myself. I'm like you. I'm stubborn. I can't learn except by stubbing my toe and falling on my face.

No experience out of speeches or books. I get it out of life. And one lesson from life isn't enough, either. I must learn again and again, till I'm all bruised and scarred and my wounds are the constant reminders of the mistakes I have made.

That's me and I think it's you, too. We outgrow our own silliness, we grow into a personal wisdom—or we don't. But nobody else can do for us what we should do for ourselves. Nobody can rescue us with second-hand learning. There are no gifts, no bargains, in life.

We must Do Our Own Stuff and we shouldn't complain, because that's the law of life. We should be thankful that this is so.

A noted New York hair stylist says that the fashionable women of Paris are wearing blue, orchid, and green hair, to match their gowns. One doesn't have to go to Paris to see such freaks. Steel Improvements Continue.
Industry Is Now Going South.
Old Guard Democrats May Lose.By LESLIE EICHEL,
Central Press Columnist

STEEL COMPANIES are going ahead with their improvements. That indicates they hope for a rapid increase in business—when it comes. I indicates, also, that machines will displace many men. But, even more, it indicates that new and less expensive uses will be found for steel, broadening markets. New uses for lightweight steels may open an entirely new world—at least, so it is hoped.

The betterment of steel plants may be termed, also, a form of armament. No nation is truly armed unless it has huge steel producing capacity. The Soviet Union is learning that. It desires to build large battleships. It cannot even begin them under three years—experts say—because in all Russia there is no plant that can turn out the armor plate.

SOUTH'S CHANGE
Noteworthy, too, is the constant upbuilding of steel plants in the south. This is changing the character of southern industrial life—and may change the southern political complexion.

The south is not likely to swing from the Democrats, but it is probable that the Old Guard southern senators and representatives will be voted out of office gradually. The New Deal follows on the wings of heavy industry.

Alabama is the state undergoing the largest industrial development in the south at the moment, due to the steel and coal industry there. And Alabama recently elected a New Deal senator—Lester Hill.

A VIEW OF US
Here is an interesting view of Americans—as given in a letter to the London Times by the head of the Salvation Army, General Evangeline Booth.

"After an almost continuous absence of three years, I found a changed and still changing United States during my recent tour of two months. I am not expressing any opinion on the merits of measures associated with the New Deal or controversies arising therefrom. I refer to the mind and purpose of the people. A great democracy is finding its way. Citizens are becoming politicians and politicians are realizing that they are citizens."

Where there's a will, there's a way—a better way. A list of the federal authorities at Washington are equipped with the kind of machinery for dealing with crime that we associate with Scotland Yard, and this machinery is in effective operation. In New York (Continued On Page Six)

An optimistic Oregon man, scornful of the efforts of flesh-and-blood cooks, has patented a "machine cooker." Decked out with conveyor belts and thermostats, this device claims its creator—not only cooks each kind of food at its correct temperature, but delivers it piping hot and correctly seasoned. However, the inventor has not yet eliminated the human factor—the food has to be eaten by someone!

To home-bathers, harassed by evasive slippery soap, comes a doughnut shaped bath soap—to be worn around the neck like a collar. The housewives irritated by bees of buzzing flies, is offered a means of smacking down these creatures and having a lot of fun at the same time—a gun which shoots a disc on the end of a plunger at the flies.

Another inventor gives the sports world a baseball bat clothed in sponge rubber. It's to cut down the frequency of foul balls.

Possibly some of these may prove to be boons to harried mankind—all save one. This alarming device is a talking automobile horn whose sound disc will shout any desired comment at other automobiles.

What a serenade in the night two love-struck talking automobiles would produce! They have excellent voices now. Must they have tongues too?

St. Paul's Church Will Hear Message Of Dr. Stirewalt

Missionary To Japan Will Be Morning Speaker; Served Since 1905

On Sunday morning, January 16, at 10:40 a. m., the Rev. A. J. Stirewalt, D. D., will be the speaker at St. Paul's Lutheran church at a combined service of both the English and German congregations. Pastor Stirewalt has been a missionary of the United Lutheran church to Japan since 1905, being located for the first 16 years at Kumamoto, and since 1921 at Tokyo, Japan. He has served three times as president of the Lutheran Mission in Japan, and also has served as president of the National Christian Council of Japan comprising all Christian denominations. After the earthquake in Japan in 1923 he did extensive work in disaster relief and later founded a home for aged and destitute people, and a second institution for women and children of men who perished at the time of the disaster.

Pastor Stirewalt comes to the territory of our Pittsburgh Synod as the representative of the Foreign Mission board of the United Lutheran church in the celebration of the 20th anniversary of U. L. C. Mission work. He is able by his experience as a missionary to Japan for these many years not only to bring us the story of the evangelization work among these people, but also to tell us the personal attitudes and the national feelings of a people who are a tremendous factor in the Orient and a disturbing element for the rest of the world. It is important to have a better understanding of a people who play so important a part in world affairs, and not only the people of St. Paul's but also the general public is welcome at this service.

American Sought By French Police

Believe Michael Stein, Address Unknown, Was "Bluebeards" Accomplice

(International News Service)
PARIS, Jan. 15.—Through an American, sought by police, the deadly doings of "Bluebeard" Eugene Weidmann and French Fascist plotters were indirectly linked today. Police revealed they were hunting Michael Stein, whose American address was not known, both as a friend of Weidmann and as a possible accomplice in the sensational slaying last June of Carlo and Salabino Roselli, Italian anti-Fascists.

Four members of Les Cadouillards (the Hooded Ones), revolutionary French Fascist organization, are already under arrest in connection with the Roselli killings, and others are sought by the secret police.

Weidmann, confessed profit-murderer of Jean De Koven, Brooklyn, N. Y. dancer, and five others, told Magistrate M. Berry that he had met Stein often—at Frankfurt and Bad Nauheim, Germany, and again in Paris.

Eight Cadouillards, according to police, were responsible for the murder of the Rosellis. Three are said to have admitted complicity in the "execution" of the Italians, one of whom had been agitating for supplying the Spanish Loyalists with arms and ammunition.

The World At A Glance

City the forces that make for honesty in municipal administration have achieved a momentous, and I believe a permanent, victory for righteousness. The influence of religion, of education, of a free and courageous press has not been in vain.

"My impression of public opinion in the United States does not justify the idea that the people are uninterested in foreign affairs. They want peace. Most of them believe that despite all crises a general war is incredible. They are thus wholly sympathetic with efforts to maintain peace, and are drawn inevitably towards any government that is making such efforts. Peace is the secret of the deep understanding between the United States and the British Commonwealth of Nations.

It would be a great mistake to suppose, however, that the United States is moved merely by the weakness of sentimentality. She is not a military nation. She hates militarism in every form, and believes it to be destructive of liberty and progress. But, with a growing realization of the vast issues involved, she is watching events and preparing to play her part if the necessity should arise.

"I am hardly qualified to speak upon exports and imports, tariffs, preferences, and such technicalities. What does impress every thoughtful observer is the significance of the trade agreement negotiations as an evidence of Anglo-American good will.

"I came back to London very much heartened by my impressions of what is probably the most potent force for peace and stability in the world today—Anglo-American friendship."

Court Appointee Faces Searching Inquiry By Senate

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—Pernicious approval of senatorial nominees by the United States senate is today a thing of the past, according to U. S. Senator Edward R. Burke of Nebraska. President Roosevelt's next appointee to the supreme court will undergo a searching examination, he said.

Speaking before the Allegheny County Bar Association, Senator Burke, one of a group of independent Democrats who opposed the American constitutional form of government is, in the long run, the only way to protect the liberties of the people.

Mourns Passing Of Grandmothers

Type Which Were Found In His Youth Are Seldom Seen Anymore, McIntyre States

PLAYED WITH GIRLS MOSTLY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Because my mother went to Heaven before I have any memory of her, my maternal affections were centered on my lavender and old lace grandmother, who reared me. Today there are no grandmas who even remotely suggest the type.

Modern grandmas are likely to be flinging a rhumba with a hot cha cha at the feet of the young. My grandmother was American and Grandpa was an emigrant from Scotland, a dour kindly man with penetrating eyes and a lowland burr. Grandma had a lovely name. It was Joan.

For a long time the companionships of boys and girls did not interest me. I was content to play by myself in the backyard until time for the afternoon nap, when Grandma would read from Grimm's fairy tales while rocking in the company chair, the one with the crocheted tidi.

In the evening, my face scrubbed and shining, we would take our pillows and sit on the front stoop until Gen. George House passed on way home, certain sign it was precisely 9 o'clock. I always looked forward to helping grandma close the shutters.

Later on father, becoming a little more prosperous with his Missouri hotel, bought us a horse and carriage. Black Charlie and a two-seated chase with canopied fringe! Aunt Kate, driving, and sister sat in the front seat and grandma and I in the rear. Sometimes we would jog along the upper river road, other times the lower and now and then travel back across the covered bridge and past the Children's Home. Often Grandma would have a surprise in the side pocket of her black foul-weather dress, a poke of gum drops or pebbly pink almonds. Too, I would often go to sleep while she crooned her favorite song, "Bring Back My Bonnie."

During my early boyhood I played mostly with girls. There were no boys on our block. A diversion was the pin show Mary Henking, the girl next door, and I gave. The stage would be portioned off with a sliding bed sheet curtain on a stretched wire in the Henking living room. Our audience consisted solely of Mr. Henking, the town's sedate banker, who would look up now and then from his evening paper to beam his approval, not having the slightest notion what it was all about. In fact, we made up the shows as we went along. Then there were not summer days when we played store at the edge of the sidewalk, hawking a mildewed version of what was supposed to be lemonade. Hour after hour we sat patiently with a paper tasseled shoe-fly awaiting trade, but the only customer was again the old reliable Gen. George House.

who would gallantly plunk down his nickel and courageously down the awful stuff. One felt the General might actually die at dawn!

Mary, a pretty girl with pulled taffy braids, began to have beaux and our industrial experiments languished. In the meantime my voice was changing and I was growing decidedly tough. I chewed tobacco, smoked corn cob pipes and alarmed mothers warned little Rollos to "keep away from that dreadful McIntyre boy". Grandma would chide me but was not upset by my derelictions. Outside of my wife, she was the firmest believer in my ultimate destiny. One of her treasured letters when I was after two years away, floundering hopelessly around, said: "Some day you will live in New York with your own horse and buggy and go to hear another Jenny Lind sing."

I first noted grandma's feebleness when her age-mottled hands shook in reading the paper. Then I went away to business school in Cincinnati and it developed, left the town for good. For the first year there were several trips back and I became something of a journalistic wanderer. Each return marked Grandma's further decline.

She had reached her 80's, stooped, shrunken, and a dull glaze to her eyes. On the last visit she did not know me, but called me "Georgie", the name of her youngest son. The day I left, never to see her again in this world, she sat at a window as the depot hack called. From it I waved as Tom Holmes clucked to his team. Her returning wave was mechanical, without emotion. For her I was lost through the mental fog that enveloped her. "She's been one of the town's finest women," said Tom Holmes, and meant it. I know that my last view of her was a wrench I can never erase. As I have often said, it was the nearest my heart ever came to breaking.

On court house hill there is some interest expressed in the selection of a corner for Lawrence County. Register and Recorder Orville Potter resigned as of December 20, from his duties as coroner and it was thought a successor would be chosen immediately. No word has been received from the governor's office and in the meantime Sheriff M. M. Ingham is still acting. The county had three coroners in as many weeks, Potter, Pritchard and Ingham.

Nothing has been done as yet and the farmers in these townships are beginning to feel that the state has forgotten about them. It is said that a protest will be prepared within a short time and presented both to

FRUIT GROWERS TO MEET AT FARM SHOW

Speakers will include F. N. Fagan, professor of pomology at the Pennsylvania State College, on the safe cultivation of fruit trees; Dr. F. P. Cullinan, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, on problems confronting peach growers; F. G. D. Anthony, professor of pomology at the Pennsylvania State College, on response of Pennsylvania orchards to potash treatment; H. E. Hodgkiss, extension entomologist of the Pennsylvania State College, on injurious fruit insects; Dr. A. J. Heinicke, Cornell University, on the effect of various spray materials on leaf activity; and Dr. H. W. Thurston, plant pathologist of the Pennsylvania State College, on experiments with lime sulphur and its dilutions.

KEEP CHILDREN HEALTHY WITH WARM CLOTHING

A great deal has been written about preventing colds by adding a generous supply of Vitamin C to the diet. This is important, but there is another factor which should also be considered, that of warmth versus cold, according to Miss Mary Vogle, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county. In many rural school houses the problem of ventilation has yet to be solved satisfactorily. Usually the children sitting near the cold stove get toasted on one side while the other side received cold drafts from cracks under loose windows and doors. Youngsters in the far corners of the room sit with blue-tinted goose-pimpled bare legs and arms.

When going to school, children often have to wait on windy, snow-covered roads for draughty buses. Are short socks, cotton undershirts, thin soled shoes and no hats enough protection? Although children have had hot cereal and orange juice, they will inevitably catch cold if warm clothing is not provided.

Dress children comfortably. Long stockings of wool or a mixture of wool and cotton are much better for winter wear than are socks. If the roads are particularly icy, an extra pair of wool anklets will keep feet warm. In wet or snowy weather rubbers or galoshes are both practical and essential.

Long-legged, long-armed union suits are still best for those who have to sit or stand in perpetually cold, draughty rooms, and for those who enjoy tumbling in the snow. Hat, hoods, ear-muffs, and head protectors that keep the head and ears warm will save many a head and earache. Many older people today are beginning to regret their youth. During the warm months this may be a healthy practice. In cold or wet weather common sense demands a certain amount of protection for the sensitive organs of the ear, nose, and throat. Teach children to use good judgment in their choice of clothing, and try to have warm, attractive garments on hand for them to use, Miss Vogle suggests.

Heavy coats alone are not enough. When a child enters a cold school room and sheds his outer garment, he must have on sufficient warm clothing to be comfortable. Light weight garments with a high percentage of wool are far more satisfactory than layers and layers of other garments that become heavy and awkward.

Keep the children warm inside and out, and there will be fewer colds to treat.

POOR CARE IS CAUSE OF FLOCK EGG SLUMP

There are many reasons for slumps in egg production. Poor management is one of the chief causes.

Irregular feeding and lack of a constant supply of drinking water, irregular use of artificial lights, and sudden changes in rations are management factors causing egg laying slumps. Irregular use of lights affects the birds' regular routine of feeding, drinking, and laying. Sudden changes in rations may affect the palatability or appearance of the feed. Sometimes the birds may eat an excess of new feeds to which their systems are not adjusted.

Fruit may cause layers to molt and they usually cease production while growing the new feathers. Insufficient feed intake may be responsible for a loss in body weight since the birds are not getting sufficient nutrients to maintain life and build up eggs. A shortage of hopper space may keep down feed consumption, especially in mash and cracker sheds. Have at least 10 or 12 linear feet of mash hopper space per 100 hens.

Some flocks tire temporarily of specific grains like corn or wheat. If corn is refused more wheat, oats, barley or buckwheat can be fed until the hens get back their appetites for corn. The same principle applies to the other grains. Changing layers to different pens or houses, as well as changes in caretakers, may affect their regular routine of living and cause slumps. One of the quickest ways to curtail production is to take the water away from a heavy laying flock for a day or let the waterers freeze.

TRY FOR BETTER HEALTH OF CHILDREN IN 1938

What resolutions have you made in this new year of 1938 to better equip your children in health? Most fortunate children, given a fair heredity, enter life as healthy individuals. Yet, how many children really attain buoyant health? American women during 1938 and in the years to come will be laying a good or poor foundation for the health of their children.

Miss Mary Vogle, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county, suggests that you pin the following 10 New Year's resolutions where you can see them daily:

1. I will start the day with a good hot breakfast for each member of my family.

2. I will see that I give my children a breakfast containing a cooked whole grain cereal, fruit, toast, milk or cocoa, and occasionally eggs.

3. I will see that each lunch box that goes from my home contains a substantial food, a raw fruit or vegetable, milk and simple sweet.

4. I will see that some hot food is supplied at noon to both my children and adults.

5. I will see that my children are examined yearly by a doctor.

6. I will see that my children visit the dentist at least once a year.

7. I will see that my children get at least nine hours of rest.

8. I will try to prevent emotional upsets among members of my family.

9. I will include the protective foods—milk, eggs, fresh fruits and vegetable—in as liberal amounts as possible.

10. I will try to learn more about better balanced meals.

If I try to follow these regulations, I will be helping to give the priceless gift of health to my family.

Federal Tax Must Be Filed

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—Employers of eight or more persons during 1937 must file their federal unemployment insurance tax return by January 31, Collector of Internal Revenue William Driscoll announced today.

The tax rate for the year is 2 percent of the pay roll. Driscoll pointed out no general extension of time for filing these returns would be granted this year. A year ago an extension of time was granted to April 1.

He also pointed out all contributions to state unemployment funds for employment during 1937 must be made before January 31, to enable such contributions to be used as a credit against the federal liability.

Forty Nine Dogs Have Been Killed

Forty-nine dogs and two cats have been killed and disposed of this month it was stated today by Ed Umbright who has charge of the city's incinerating plant, where all dead dogs are disposed of. This is the largest number of dogs disposed of in some time in so short a period.

This number was reached in various ways, death by automobile; and by shotgun, police and the dog-catcher having killed about 10 during the last two days as a result of the quarantine on dogs following discovery that mad dogs had attacked several persons and dogs.

Police in cruiser cars continued last night and today to journey to different sections of the city looking for dogs running-at-large.

Some days since Finance Director James L. Fink announced that the cost of carrying compensation insurance on city workers this year had increased considerably, or from $6,000 to $7,500. The increase was caused by new legislation enacted in Pennsylvania. Benefits have been materially increased by the new legislation and accordingly the city, like others, must pay more for the compensation insurance.

Little Trouble With Meters Now

Winter. During the past two weeks approximately $760.00, in nickels found in the parking meters. Previously motorists had deposited about $500 weekly. Cold weather, snow and sleet recently played a role in keeping many cars out of operation.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath said that at different times he has stopped and tested the time of meters with his watch and found all he tested to run right.

The first parks for public use in North America were dedicated by William Penn in Philadelphia in 1682. These original parks, now in the heart of the city, are known today as Franklin, Washington, Logan, Rittenhouse and Penn squares.

An inch of rainfall means 100 gallons of water per acre.

Kulich Stars In Senior League

Scores 24 Points In Game With Brooklyn Jewels, For League And City Record

Michael "Mike" Kulich, former New Castle high star, set a local and senior league record at the "Y" last night in scoring when he had 24 points for the Chicago Bears in their game with the Brooklyn Jewels. The Bears won the game incidentally 44 to 25.

There wasn't much to the game outside of young Kulich. He made 12 field goals in all, and six in each half. Fornataro paced the losers with 11 of the points.

In the second game on the bill the Buffalo Germans, paced by Leonard and George, topped the New York Celtics 22 to 18. The best of the losing team was Seneski with nine of the points.

New Castle is in the driver's seat right now, having licked the two toughest teams, Ambridge and Aliquippa on their own courts, and will meet both teams here next half.

Both teams made numerous substitutions throughout the game. Franklin led all the way, but never by more than five points.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Grove City staged an upset at Grove City last night, Alfred University being the basketball victim, 40 to 27. George Pelach, the stellar forward for the City, led the attack with nine field goals and one goal from the foul line, accounting for 19 of the 40 points. It was mainly his accuracy which gave the Crimson a 19 to 13 lead at the end of half time. Alfred U. basketballers concentrated their efforts to stop Pelach and from then on the Grove City team had little difficulty increasing their lead and winning.

At Greenville Fenn of Cleveland, lost in basketball to Thiel, 33 to 21. J. Breckenridge, forward for Thiel, assured their victory with seven baskets and four fouls which gave him a total of 18 points.

Slippery Rock Teachers took a lesson last night in the way game from Wayneburg at the Wayneburg, 36 to 22. Boulding center for the Yellow Jackets, proved the scoring ace. He hooped 12 points.

Carnegie Tech defeated Duquesne 44 to 31, at Pittsburgh in another floor tilt. Combs, forward, and W. Miller, guard, scored 12 and 13 points, respectively, while Weitzel, forward for the Dukes, scored 11 points.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

Here's a bit of news from Cleveland's new arena, scene of the six-day bicycle races. "Walthour, Yates, Buhler and Andy cracked up on the south straightaway. Andy was badly shaken up but returned after first aid. The others were back in the race after Trainer Fred Bullivant patched them up."

And when the writer of that dispatch said Fred Bullivant patched them up, he wasn't fooling. Fred can take a human carcass that has just emerged from a meat grinder, give it a brisk rubdown, tie a rag here and there, slap it on the back and produce a champion.

One of the heroes comes up with a broken toe? Jump on the job for Fred Bullivant. A foot or two of gauze bandage, some tape, a jigger of iodine and the guy goes back to the races.

Or, let us suppose the man merely has the skin burned off one side of his leg as a result of doing a Ty Cobb slide along the pine boards of the bike saucer.

What does he do? Do they send him to a hospital? Do they call a clinic of specialists come dashing in prepared to graft epidermis from the skin of a rhino or an alligator?

Nope. Fred Bullivant just takes a look, stirs up a concoction in a sauce pan, applies hot towels and soaks the patient to get going.

Keep 'em Going

Six-day bike riders can't be sissies, and Fred Bullivant's code of medicine is simple and to the point: "I don't let anyone turn baby on me. We treat them all as if they were men—and they are. My rules are easy. I keep congestion down and make the riders keep going. Everything has to be kept clean, of course, to avoid danger of infection."

Bullivant has been pasting bike riders back together for more years than he is willing to remember. But I know that he was fixing broken toes with the tape 15 years ago during the races in Chicago, and that he speaks of the bunks where the riders eat and snore when not

U. S. Is Planning For 1940 Olympics

Making Plans For Tryouts For Places On United States Team

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—They may be having a war over there right now and it might still be going on splendidly when the time comes. But not only is the Amateur Athletic Union going ahead with plans to engage in the next Olympic games at Tokyo, provided all the Japanese aren't unavoidably detained out of town; it even can think in terms of doing with the national championships in track and field, the final Olympic tryouts and the intercollegiate A.A.U. event.

It seems quite possible, in fact, that all of these will be held west of the Rockies two years from now, just as they were in 1932 when Los Angeles got the Olympics.

On West Coast

The possibility was conceded today by Daniel J. Perris, secretary-treasurer of the A.A.U. and a member of the American Olympic Committee, who added that the final tryouts very likely would be held on the west coast, probably at Los Angeles, and that it might be that the A.A.U. championships would go to Salt Lake City.

"Decisions of that kind naturally will be made by the committee in due season," he explained. "I can only say how the matter shapes up to me personally at this time. Salt Lake City has been asking for the national championships and it would seem like a logical time to award the games there."

LAY DOUBLE-YOLKED EGGS

(International News Service)

PEKIN, Ind.—George Bower's hens are really something, take it from him, and he isn't sure whether they have gone on "the step-up system" or just what. But he does know that recently his hens have been laying eggs with double yolks. Recently Bower brought in a dozen 34-ounce eggs, topping by 10 ounces the standard egg weight.

Council Names Health Officer

Partial Budget, Subject To Revision, Adopted By Borough Council

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 15.—Continuing with new state legislation, members of the borough council convened on Friday evening in the council chambers to adopt the budget for the year 1938. Within the next 30 days the budget will be subject to revision on the part of council. A copy for public inspection will be posted in the borough secretary's office.

A recommendation by the health and sanitation committee that Lewis Younger be re-appointed health officer and Henry Eichholtz appointed a member of the board unanimously adopted.

Members also approved the health and sanitation committee's recommendation that Benny Stark be retained as dog catcher and that he be paid for each dog destroyed in addition to the dollar paid by the state.

An agreement has been reached with the Clydesdale Brick & Stone company of Pittsburgh, which formerly had a limestone quarry at Wiley Hill, whereby the borough has the right to use and haul away ungraded limestone for a period of one year for the sum of $20 per year. Providing the quarry is not sold, the contract may be renewed from year to year.

It will be necessary for the borough to maintain the road into the quarry and work out a plan whereby unauthorized persons may not procure the limestone. While the limestone cannot be used for paving, it will be used for filling and various other purposes. There is at least a thousand tons of the limestone.

Various other routine matters were discussed, including the usual street and parking problems. A petition that the part of Pittsburgh Circle that extends from Spring avenue to Fountain avenue be paved by a WPA project was referred to the street committee and Mr. Monroe.

No parking signs will be placed on Short street.

Councilman Greenham suggested that something be done to eliminate U turns at Eighth street and Lawrence avenue, and that no parking signs on Border avenue or hospital hill be strictly enforced. This was referred to the police committee with power to act.

Parking over the yellow line was discussed and Councilman Parshall recommended that offenders be fined one dollar for each offense. The burgess and police committee were instructed to work out a solution.

Mr. Monroe was instructed to have the vacant lot on Lawrence avenue, owned by R. Carl Stiefel, made usable as a public parking lot. Several months ago the council agreed to rent it in exchange for the use of the lot for parking purposes. Owing to the inability of the department to secure ashes, the opening of the plot has been delayed.

A recommendation by the police committee that the parking space in the rear of the city building be reserved for borough employees and officials was adopted and no parking signs will be posted. Councilman H. E. Biordi cast a dissenting vote, stating that it was maintained of the taxpayers and was public property.

Andy Biordi Submits Financial Report Of Community Football Dinner

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 15.—The following report, submitted by Andy Biordi, sponsor of the community tribute football banquet, was accepted and approved by the board of education at the January meeting:

Receipts
School athletic dept. $ 65.25
Public ..... 213.00
Total ..... $278.25

Expenditures
315 dinners at 75c ..... $236.25
15 dinners, no charge
330 dinners
24 awards to players $ 32.40
Orchestra ..... 8.00
Miscellaneous ..... 95
Total ..... 277.60

Balance ..... .85
Reservations were made for 330 dinners, but only 302 attended the banquet and five who had made reservations returned their tickets after the banquet. This made the receipts and expenditures balance more closely than expected. It had been my intention to give the "Varsity 'E' club any surplus that was left as we did on the previous occasion.

Due to the co-operation of the school board and the civic clubs, the Chambers of Commerce and the general public, we feel that the banquet was a success and a fitting tribute to a good football squad.

Sincerely yours,
ANDY BIORDI.

Clever Winter Scene Adds Much To Enjoyment Of Delightful Affair

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 15.—A beautiful winter setting that cleverly transformed the gymnasium of Lincoln high school greeted the graduating seniors who gathered for the last of their pre-commencement activities, the senior prom.

Vari-colored lights on the figures of skaters enhanced the beauty of the scene and the seats were covered with tissue paper added to the effectiveness of the decorations.

Stock Market
Makes AdvanceIncreases Are Shown On Wide Front—Sentiment
Is ImprovedBy LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The stock market today resumed the advance on a wide front, with gains of from one to more than three points.

Wall Street sentiment was improved, as the market gave indications of having broken out of the consolidation period through the past few sessions. Trading was fairly active for a Saturday, and leaders moved up easily after initial hesitancy.

Chrysler was the individual star. It opened 1½ points higher on a block of 1,500 shares at 60½, slipped back to 60, then suddenly sprang to above 62. This was a net gain of better than three points on the day. General Motors added a point to last night's closing level.

U. S. Steel jumped more than two points, while Republic, Youngstown and Bethlehem each advanced better than a point in the steels. Gains of a point or so were shown in the coppers by American Smelting, Kennecott and Anaconda.

Douglas rose about two points in the aviation, while United Aircraft, Boeing and Sperry moved up a point or more. The latter was particularly active.

Johns-Manville, Coca Cola, Eastman, Westinghouse Electric and Du Pont were strong blue chips, with gains of two or more points.

Hunting Lindy Hoax $100,000

A worker is shown tearing out the wall on the back of the steps of the former home of Gaston B. Means, after a cellmate of the convicted swindler told the police that Means had cached $100,000 in a hollowed-out place under the concrete steps. The money is said to be the sum Means received from Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean for the return of the kidnapped Lindbergh baby. The money has not yet been recovered. (Central Press)

Fasting Priest
Fails To Heed
Grave WarningVery Rev. Israel H. Noe,
Continues Fasting, Talks
With His Brother(International News Service)
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 15.—The fast for spiritual perfection by the very Rev. Israel Harding Noe, dean of St. Mary's Episcopal cathedral here, today became an ordeal of watchful waiting for his friends, relatives, and parishioners.

The stern warnings of his physicians went unheeded today as the famed dean entered the fourteenth day of his self-imposed fast in an effort to prove that life on earth can exist on spiritual food alone.

When the efforts of his immediate family, his superior bishop and his physicians to dissuade him from his fast were cast aside, the dean's eldest brother, the Rev. Thomas Noe of York, S. C., was called in.

Cannot Interfere

But after spending several hours with Dr. Noe in the deanery, the brother returned home, declaring he could not interfere.

"I feel there is nothing I can do in the matter," the Rev. Mr. Noe said.

"I believe my brother is thoroughly sincere and honest in seeking to achieve a spiritual plane of life denuded of life's material benefits."

Meanwhile the dean, his normally stocky figure shrunken by many days without food—except for the wafer and wine of communion—continued his vigorous work schedule.

This wavy-haired, but football-type fellow, Sidney Luft, is secretary to Eleanor Powell, film dancer. His duties? Well, "I answer fan mail, make appointments for Miss Powell, check baggage, make hotel reservations and chase admirers away from her." So there! An employment agency in Los Angeles sent him to Miss Powell six months ago. She had expected a girl, but when she tried out young Mr. Luft, she decided he was the person to fill the bill. This photo was snapped in a New York hotel as Miss Powell came east, via boat and Havana to fill some engagements.

CHANGE FOR BREAKFAST

Serve bran muffins for a change for breakfast. Barbara Pepper, young screen actress, likes them and sometimes has them plain, occasionally with raisins, dates or blueberries.

No two persons see the same colors in the rainbow, even when standing side by side. There is a different set of light paths and rays for each position of the eye that sees them.

When washing soiled articles two sudsy waters are better than one. The first one loosens the dirt, the second helps to float it off, and so rubbing and handling are minimized.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—THE LIGHTNING ARRESTER?

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Supreme Court Will Be Liberal

Debate Length Of Time It Will Take To Reverse Previous Decision

LAWS MUST BE PASSED FIRST

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg. By CHARLES P. STEWART Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Now that the United States supreme court is in process of being liberalized in the ordinary course of nature (not by enlargement of its membership, but by appointments to fill normally-created vacancies on the bench) the question arises:

How long will it take the New Deal forces to reverse the long series of decisions rendered against their policies in the days when the tribunal was predominantly conservative?

Apparently the task will require considerable time.

DIFFICULT TO REPASS

All dates have passed for the justice department to seek rehearings of cases involving rulings by the supreme court justices (or a majority of them) against the constitutionality of New Dealership-inspired enactments.

Rehearings of judicial findings must be asked for speedily, or such findings become embalmers as permanent precedents, and it is too late to revive what already is embalmed.

No, a New Deal congress (if congress stays adequately New Dealerish) will have to pass fresh legislation, substantially duplicating that which the supreme court previously has knocked out.

This will involve a deal of congressional re-drafting, tinkering, debate, filibustering and what-not. Meanwhile there will have been at least one intervening congressional election—and who knows what the seventy-fifth congress will be like?

It may be unmanageable by the New Deal. Perhaps those earlier New Deal laws will not be so easy to pass again.

After that the re-passed laws (if re-passed) will have to work their way up once more to the supreme court, which will mean two or three years' delay, anyway.

THIRD TERM REASONING That is why so many New Dealers are insistent upon a third Rooseveltian term. They reason that, up to 1940 "F. D." will be kept busy getting New Deal enactments and re-enactments through congress.

Thus far, O. K. But the supreme court fight will lap over into another term; so the New Dealers reckon.

They do not think of any other presidential possibility who suits them quite as well as he does. There are others whose intentions they consider as good as his—but not necessarily their competency.

HOW LIBERAL? All being said and done, how liberal is the supreme court, or how liberal CAN it be made immediately?

Rated as No. 1 conservatives have been Justices McReynolds, Butler, Van Devanter and Sutherland.

As No. 1 liberals, Justices Cardozo and Brandeis. Of middle-of-the-roads, Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Stone and Roberts.

Liberals have been inclined to claim Justice Stone as one of their own—but is he one? He was a Coolidge appointee; a former J. P. Morgan attorney.

Hughes?—a one-time liberal, but not in recent years, except recently. Roberts?—always classed as a conservative until very recently.

FOUR LIBERALS

Now? Van Devanter and Sutherland drop out. Two liberals come in their place.

Brandeis, a liberal, remains. Cardozo (if he lives), a New Dealer; Van Devanter's and Sutherland's successors, New Dealers.

Four, altogether. COURT STILL DOUBTFUL

Butler and McReynolds (notorious conservatives), two. Six, between them.

Plus Hughes, Stone and Roberts. Now, if anyone wants to list Hughes, Stone and Roberts as safe New Dealers, let him do so; I wouldn't.

If not, the supreme court still is doubtfully New Dealerish. And the fight will not be finished in a hurry.

Pennsylvania House Delegation Is Stirred

By ARTHUR C. WIMER Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C. Jan. 15.—Political Washington is chuckling aloud over the stir within Pennsylvania's House delegation created by a magazine article alleging that Senator Joseph Guffey control the votes of Pennsylvania representatives.

The feature was in February issue of the American magazine and charged, among other things, that "Keystone Joe controls a solid block of 27 Pennsylvania Democrats in the House of Representatives, and knows how to use them when he needs them."

Most politicians on Capitol Hill didn't see the article. This week however, Representative Gray of Spangler, Pennsylvania, drew the eyes of the nation to the publication when he got up in the House and warned he was going to demand a retraction from the magazine. Congressman Gray denied that Mr. Guffey exerted any control over his vote, and he was joined in this loud proclamation by Representative Stack, Philadelphia Democrat.

Senator Guffey has long been regarded in Washington as Democratic boss of the Keystone State, and politicians were amazed to hear the Pennsylvania House members deny his leadership. Then they began to regard the whole affair as a good joke on "Keystone Joe" and are privately getting a lot of chuckles in cloakroom gossip about the affair.

Recreation Center Opened In Church

St. Paul's Baptist Church Is Being Used For New Enterprise

Rev. M. C. Mills of St. Paul's Baptist church, adult W. P. A. education and recreation leader, has opened a recreation center in the church with the trustees of the institution as sponsors. The institution, it is expected, will grow steadily.

The project is a worthy one. The staff is organizing a community council, which will serve to assist in the sponsorship of the program. Included in the set-up are a dramatic club and a negro history group. There are games of various kinds on hand to play at all times, and other recreations suitable to the many groups are in readiness.

Of outstanding interest are the stamp club and community singing groups.

The organization is open to receive any donations that will assist in furthering the progress of the center. It is expected that local citizens will contribute books, magazines, games that have perhaps outgrown their usefulness in the home, or other articles that will aid in building up this splendid and needed organization.

Robert Meermans of the Y. M. C. A. has "started the ball rolling" by donating money to buy games to be placed on the shelves of the center. A ton of coal is another appreciated donation, this being given by an unknown friend.

Another negro center on Moravia street which has been under way has fared well, having received a piano from Bradley McGonigle. Frank Leonard, another interested person, is doing much to aid this institution, as well as Walter Smith, who has taken an equal interest.

It is hoped local citizens will cooperate in helping to build up these organizations by giving anything they may have that will be of aid. Any assistance of this nature will be much appreciated, it is stated.

Although there are hundreds of varieties of race, wo-thirds of the United States rice crop is of one variety.
